Island walks

There are pleasant walks to Muggy Beach, Coconut Bay, Kamboola Lagoon — stocked with countless oysters there for the taking — and beautiful winding paths through lush tropic jungle to the top of Mount Kootal-Loo. In the cool depths of the green you tread a carpet of leaves and ferns in a restful quiet, broken only by the rustle of a falling leaf, or the muted call of a bird. Dappled sunlight pierces the arched trees overhead and all around is a riot of ferns, palms, flowers, twisting creepers and hanging vines.

Along the path is a tinkling creek, gurgling through a narrow ravine, splendidly clothed in tropical green and spanned by a swinging bridge. From lookouts on the mountainside glorious views of the bays and beaches, the mainland and surrounding islands can be seen.

what to bring

CASUAL DRESS is worn at tropical Dunk Island. A broad-brimmed hat, plus sandals or sandshoes for reefing, beach towel, swim-suit, fishing tackle, torch, camera and sun-glasses are suggestions for inclusion — but beware of excessive baggage. "Travel Light" is the motto of the experienced traveller.
